Where the discount applies in full and where it is smaller

Reselling & WHMCS Created on November 26, 2026 2 min read

The short answer: your Agence discount applies in full to our own products. On VPS and Cloud, high-cost extensions and products from other suppliers it is smaller, because there is a minimum price. In every case, the final price shows on the invoice. It is worth knowing this before you set your clients' prices. There is a summary on the Reseller Program page.

Product by product

Product	Agence discount
Web hosting, Business and Reseller (cPanel or Plesk)	In full
Dedicated servers	In full
Streaming servers for radio stations	In full
All in One AI plans	In full
Most domain extensions	In full
High-cost domain extensions	Smaller
VPS and Cloud	Smaller: they have a minimum price
Products from other suppliers, such as SSL and OX email	Smaller

What "minimum price" means

On these products the discount applies down to a certain price and no further. So your saving can be less than 10%, 15% or 20% off the public price. What you actually pay is what shows on the invoice for each order.

How to know your price before you sell

Once you are approved, the reseller page in My MozOut shows your price on each product. The margin calculator gives your price, the selling price and the profit before you sell, and the PDF price list comes out with your margin already in, ready for clients. Each area also has its own page listing the products included: domains, hosting, servers, online radio and AI.

Do not do your sums with the full discount on everything.
Before you quote a price, check your price for VPS and Cloud, SSL certificates, OX email and the more expensive extensions. If a line is unclear, see how to read your invoice line by line.

What about the API?
Orders through the API come at your Agence price, under the same rules, and are paid from credit on the spot.

RECOMMENDED

The program page has the calculator and the list of what is included in each area.
