.mz domains with 1 to 3 letters: they need registry approval

 Domains & DNS Created on August 16, 2026 Updated on October 18, 2026 2 min read

Short names are the most sought after - quick to type, easy to say over the phone without spelling, and they fit on any card. Which is exactly why, on Mozambican extensions, a name of 1 to 3 characters is not registered automatically.

Why it is different

An ordinary name goes live in minutes. A 1-to-3-character name must be approved by the national registry before it can exist. This covers .co.mz, .org.mz, .net.mz, .ac.mz and .edu.mz.

How the request goes

- 1 You place the request as you would for any other domain.
- 2 Instead of going to automatic registration, it goes to the national registry for review.
- 3 The answer takes up to 3 working days. We tell you as soon as there is a decision.
- 4 If approved, the domain goes live as usual. If not, we let you know and sort out what you paid.

Do not build a deadline around it.

If you have a launch, a campaign or printed material on the way, do not schedule them around a short name that is still awaiting approval.

 A practical way round it: register a longer version of the name as well. That keeps the site up while the short name is under review, and afterwards you simply point one at the other.
