Checking your AI credit balance: the page, GET /v1/ai/balance and aio balance

AI Credits & Costs Created on November 28, 2026 2 min read

Your AI credit balance is shown in three places: on the All in One AI page, through the API and in the terminal, with the `aio` command. It is always the same number, with two decimal places. Checking it spends no credits.

On the page

The balance is at the top of the All in One AI page, on every tab, next to the button to buy more. People on your team with access see the same balance, because they spend the account balance.

Through the API

Use `GET /v1/ai/balance`, with a key that has the `ai:read` permission. On Linux and macOS:

```
curl "https://api.mozout.com/v1/ai/balance" -H "Authorization: Bearer $MOZOUT_API_KEY"
```

In Windows PowerShell:

curl.exe "https://api.mozout.com/v1/ai/balance" -H "Authorization: Bearer $env:MOZOUT_API_KEY"
```

The response, without a Coding Plan:

```
{
  "data": {
    "credits": 1250.5,
    "currency": "credits"
  }
}
```

Field	What it is
`credits`	The AI credits on the account, with two decimal places.
`currency`	Always `credits`. It is not your account currency.
`subscription`	Only with a Coding Plan: the points left this week and this month, when they come back and whether credits are used when the points run out.

The balance is the same with a `sandbox_` key and a `prod_` key. You can read it with your test key.

In the terminal

aio balance
```

It shows your credits and, with a Coding Plan, the points for the week and the month, the dates they come back and whether credits are used when the plan runs out. `aio auth status` also shows the balance, with the key in use, masked. See how to install aio.

AI credits are not your account balance.
The balance in USD pays invoices. AI credits only pay for AI requests. See credit balance in your account.

You do not have to keep checking: when the balance runs low, the "AI Low Balance" email arrives. See the emails All in One AI sends.
